

Litigation Support Services (LSS) is a division of EASI•Consult® dedicated to providing the highest level of expertise to attorney groups and organizations dealing with employment litigation, fair selection and equal opportunities. Our LSS teams include industrial/organizational psychologists, statisticians and experienced HR professionals. We know success in this area depends on a collaborative approach. We work with your attorneys and experts to plan, prepare, and execute customized solutions to your litigation needs. Our LSS teams are experienced and prepared to respond quickly to your employment law challenges.

Experience and Credentials

Our advisors are industrial/organizational psychologists with many years of experience working inside Fortune 500 companies or on the faculty of major universities. We are experienced in the areas of litigation support and expert testimony. Our advisors have served in a variety of litigation work, involving such cases as race, age, and disability discrimination. Each has a lengthy list of professional publications in such areas as workplace harassment, pay discrimination, performance evaluation, recruitment, hiring, Internet testing, employment test validation, and other related areas.

Courtroom Preparation

Our litigation support experts can assist your counsel in establishing a case strategy. We know our value to you rests on our ability to build a collaborative relationship. EASI•Consult's expertise in the field of industrial/organizational psychology can be used to complement your legal experts and to assist you in depositions.

Expert Witness Testimony

Our litigation support experts can provide expert testimony and reports pertaining to discrimination charges in: recruitment, selection, promotion practices, compensation and pay programs, termination, and workforce reduction. We are experts in discrimination, stereotyping and bias in the workplace.

Statistical Data Analysis

We are able to provide quick and accurate reviews of relevant data for your clients. Our psychologists are well trained and experienced in complex data analysis techniques. We understand the need to summarize complex statistics using clear and simple language.

HR Audits

We have designed programs and policies for large and small organizations for over a decade – from diversity training to pre-employment testing. We can provide a critical review of your client's policies, programs, and practices or the opposing party's HR programs.
